

Telemedicine Disclaimer

The services provided through this telemedicine platform are for general medical consultations and do not replace in-person medical care when necessary. Our healthcare providers can diagnose, prescribe medications (where legally permitted), and provide medical advice based on the information you provide. However, telemedicine has limitations, and in some cases, you may be advised to seek in-person evaluation or emergency care.

By using this service, you acknowledge and accept the following:

- Telemedicine is not suitable for all medical conditions, including emergencies. If you are experiencing a medical emergency, call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room immediately.
- Our providers rely on the accuracy and completeness of the information you provide. Misrepresentation of symptoms or medical history may affect the quality of care.
- Prescriptions are issued at the provider's discretion and may be subject to state regulations. Controlled substances and certain medications may not be prescribed through telemedicine.
- This platform complies with privacy regulations to protect your medical information, but online communication carries inherent security risks.
- By proceeding, you consent to receive medical services via telemedicine and accept any associated risks.

For further questions or concerns, please contact our support team.